War at Both Wholesale and Retail.

At the close of the brief unpleasantness of 1898 we Spain $20, 000,000 for "an option on a war" in the Philippines, Says the New York World. We took up the option; we have the war. By denying to the Filipinos even the promise of freedom in a far future we left them no alternative but to fight to the end or bid farewell to hope of liberty.

Our transports sail west with money and horses and men; they sail east again with the broken, the wounded, the insane. burn the jungle villages and shoot down their people, and whereever our soldiers venture by twos and threes outside of the armed camps they are tortured and killed. The money cost is vast, the loss of life as lamentable as it is unnecessary.

Yet we have just bought more war. The Senate has ratified a treaty to pay Spain an additional $100,000.00 for the islands of Cibitu and Cagayan, not included in the original deal-for the absolute ownership of the people of those islands, whose own wish we have not consulted.

We have bought war at wholesale and we have bought it at retail. It is now costing us $100,-600,000 or more a year. How long before the country will decide to go out of the melancholy business?

For some time it has been said by some that the law giving a prisoner a life term in the penitentiary upon the third conviction if the jury so desires, and the fact is charged in the indictment is not constitutional, but the Court of Appeal has so decided in affirming the judgment of the Bourbon Circuit Court in the case of Burnam Brown against the Commonwealth. Brown, a negro, was convicted of maliciously shooting Flora Bradley, also colored, and under Section 1,130 of the Kentucky Statutes the third conviction for felony, was sentenced to life imprisonment in the State penitentiary. ### Of Practical Aid to Wowan.

The March number of the Delineator is admirably suited to the various needs of every woman. There is something in it of a practical character for every woman who has household cares or who wishes to understand the tendency in modern styles. One of the most valuable articles is on "The Servants We Do Not Keep," by Prof. Ellen H. Richards of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. This is a subject that should interest every Will make regular trips through woman who has trouble with the domestic problem.
